THE PRESBYTERIANS.

GENERAL ASSEMBLY AT ST. LOUIS.

Special Dispatch to The Chicago Tribune.

May 27.—The great question of consolidation was the feature of to-day's Assembly, and, therefore, the attendance was large.

Yesterday the matter was settled, so far as suspecting the work to be done by the Freedmen's Committee, and let him have special charge of the work. He did not say that he would not be a candidate for the office of Secretary, but if Henry D. Omeyett were elected, he thought his chances would be slight indeed. They were especially called to the freedmen's work by God, and if they neglected it, they would be criminally responsible.

Dr. Ganson of the Boston Presbytery, had forty years' experience in the work, and was the first colporteur in the West, and he said that the subject of the freedmen could not be adequately handled by any one man, and that the Committee should be disbanded, and the work should be done by the Board of Home Missions.

Dr. W. R. Tracy, of New York, said that the Board of Foreign Missions had been divided into three parts—home missions, substitution, and the freedmen—and that an

Assembly should be convened to care for the freedmen's work especially.

The Chair decided the amendment out of order. Dr. Collier of Pennsylvania, proposed a substitution of the freedmen's Committee, and that they might sit most in the South.

Dr. A. M. Lockridge, of Iowa, said that the only new point he made was that education was the most important part of this work, and that the life of the Presbyterians in teaching, and the life of the church in teaching, and the the Sunday school could not do this well, he and that it was the difference between teaching five days and one. He claimed that the Home Missions did not do this. According to the Rev. W. R. Tracy, of New York, the Board of Foreign Missions had been divided into three parts—home missions,

substitution, and the freedmen—and that an

freedmen's work especially.

Dr. H. A. Nelson, in speaking on the same subject, said that was the important feature of the work, viz: Education, and he wanted more schools, instead of less. Altogether, Dr. Nelson did not make his point clear, and he was not understood, and at a late part of the day he explained that he was for consolidation.

VARIOUS OPINIONS.

Dr. Bingham wanted no consolidation in his views, and he wanted to be left to himself.

Dr. W. H. Booth, of New York, said that
